Chai Tea can be served hot or cold, according to your liking & comes highly recommended from us. It has a sweet & spicy taste and is also a great alternative to high caffeine drinks.

Liquor coffee's £6.25

Baileys

With Bailey's Irish Cream, Bailey's coffee is the second most asked for liqueur coffee in the world after the Irish coffee

Russian

With Vodka. A serious bite to it, for the winter months, this can warm a person up immediately.

Jamaican

With Dark Rum. Obviously created in Jamaica, it is surprising that a warm drink is common in such a hot country. But then again, it does taste great!

Caribbean

With Bacardi. This coffee is smoother than the Jamaican and Russian coffees, but still has the same strength.

Mexican

With Tequila. Often referred to as the conquistador coffee, the reason becomes apparent after 3 or 4 of them!

Spanish

With 2/3 brandy & 1/3 Tia Maria. Surprisingly nice. This is one of the most recently invented liqueur coffees. Worth a try.

Irish

With Irish whisky. The most popular liquor coffee, an old time favourite!

Roman

With Galliano. This is a spicy coffee. When mixed, they become quite strongly flavoured. The coffee & Galliano complement each other excellently!

Italian

With Disaranno. Although coffee does not grow in Italy, espresso was made by the Italians & with the added Disaranno, Magnifico!

Highland/Gaelic

With Scotch whisky. Our cousins from across the sea liked our Irish coffee so much they decided to make their own.

Royal

With Hennessy Cognac. This coffee, which references the French Royals & Aristocrats, was actually more common among the peasants of France, who drank it during cold months.

Calypso

With Tia Maria. Coffee flavoured liqueur, served in a coffee!! Brilliant!
